

June 20, 2018 Duathlon

The June 20, 2018 Wednesday Duathlon had both excellent weather and great competition.

Jon Ignatowski was the first runner in to the transition, followed by Arianna Whittaker and Mary Kate Curran, very close together. Gene Newman passed Will Siegfried on the first turn, but Will road his stern wake right to the buoy turn. That's where they both passed Jon (in a stock boat). Gene had a better turn, and was able to gradually pull away, becoming the first boat to finish.

Mary Kate's lead didn't last very long, as Arianna was able to catch her and outrun her former running camp coach to the finish line. Jon gained on the first two runners, but it's really hard to run right after the paddling leg, and he couldn't make up the distance.

This Duathlon saw the debut of Grace McDonough, running for Allen Kelly. We hope to see more of her, and of everyone who made this third Wednesday Duathlon a great way to spend their evening.

Wednesday June 20th 2018
Duathalon

Will Siegfried & Arianna Whittaker	0:27:14
Mary Kate Curran & Gene Newman	0:27:23
Jon Ignatowski	0:27:44
Scott Toth & Scott Visser	0:30:01
Allen Kelly & Grace McDonough	0:30:27
Caitlin Boreyko & Jake Fredericks	0:32:48
Lynn Short & Peter Cain	0:34:30
Mary Kelly	0:35:11
Lia Call	0:36:01
John & Wyatt Newman	0:44:39

Left to right: scott, mary kate, scott, grace, arianna, lia will, allen, jake, caitlin, (gene), jon, lynn, wyatt and john